

Troubleshooting Sharing

Don't Know How to Share

For sharing there are a few different ways these ads can be shared. The best way is to download these pictures onto your computer or phone, then go into your desired app and click through your downloaded photos. (Check download section)

Don't Know How to Download

For the ads, click the provided link of the image you want to post. This will open to an external page. On this page there will be a download button towards the top of the screen. Click this button and wait for the download alert that will be on the bottom of the screen. From there, open the image and go to the app you would like to post on. Using the search through your images option of the said app. (The download image will be in your download photos file, photos file, or download files.)

Download on to My Phone

The way to download onto your phone from your computer is to left click the link. A pop-up menu will come up with an option on the menu to click open on my phone. Click the open on my phone link and follow the download section. (If your phone is not connected through a shared email account on your computer and phone, check the other ways to share options.)

Other Ways to Share

The image quality will not be as good as downloading, but taking a picture of these images to post on your social media is also a good option. Check the "Built For SnapChat" section and pick an ad from those three by clicking the link provided. (These will appear with the best quality after a picture.) From there, open the app you wish to post on using your phone, click the take a picture option, and take a picture of your chosen ad.

You can also screenshot on your computer and pull from your downloads using a screenshot. (Screenshot changes based on the advancement of your computer and what operating system you are running on. If you don't know how to take a screenshot / picture of something on your screen, use your search engine and search how to take a picture of my screen. This should open to the type of model your computer is how to, if this fails enter in the type of computer you have to the search bar as well.)
